STEP 1 TRAIN

Train as an Arts Award adviser

Arts Award helps schools by enabling them to deliver a recognised arts qualification. Students completing Arts Award acquire skills that are essential for success in 21st century life.

Book Arts Award adviser training

Adviser training courses are available throughout the year. Individuals and small groups can book online at artsaward.org.uk/training.

Groups of six or more from the same organisation or partnership should contact our training team on training.team@trinitycollege.co.uk

STEP 2 PLAN

Plan and deliver Arts Award

Map your provision to the criteria

Your adviser toolkit contains Arts Award's requirements and assessment criteria. You can also download our Qualification Specifications as a starting point. Using our free online mapping tools and resources, link to your existing arts provision, to the Arts Award level(s) you plan to offer.

Deliver your Arts Award programme

Arts Award's flexible framework allows you to deliver the qualification within your existing curriculum or extra-curricular activity. Run it in your creative departments, or encourage young people to explore the arts outside of school.

Assess students' portfolios

Book your assessment

Request a moderation online through the Centre Portal, making sure to do so eight weeks in advance. We have a range of moderation options available.

Click here to find out more about moderation options

Assess your portfolios

Using your toolkit, carefully assess your portfolios against the Arts Award criteria. Get support from Trinity College London prior to your moderation to ensure evidence is present and you are fully prepared.

Plan your moderation

At your moderation, one of our moderators will look at a sample of the students' work in order to validate your assessment. Certificates will be received in 4-6 weeks.
